BIG HAUL OF STOLEN GOODS

LIMERICK POLICE FIND

GOODS to the value of between £300 and £400, representing the proceeds of burglaries which have baffled the Limerick Gardai for some months, were seized by detectives and Guards in a swoop on Saturday night.

Detective-Sergeant J. Murphy, discovering a clue over a fortnight ago, followed it up, to find the place of concealment in a farmhouse some twenty-five miles from Limerick. The collection of articles removed to William Street Barracks included fur coats, ladies' costumes and dresses, old vases, pieces of statuary, clocks, brass candlesticks, silver plate and ware, a dynamo, and a mouthpiece and flex from a telephone kiosk in the city. In addition, six ladies' bicycles and one man's bicycle were traced. All the goods, it is learned, have been identified. A list of the premises and owners from whom the goods are alleged to have been stolen include those of Patrick O'Connell, Little Catherine street; K. O'Brien, Upper William street; P. Delacy, Augustinian place; D. Cantwell, William street; H. Sexton, Patrick street, and Stylewear, Ltd., Patrick street.

A married couple, who are alleged to have broken and entered the premises of Stylewear, Ltd., will appear before the City District Court tomorrow.

CLOTHES RATIONING

As from to-day the number of coupons required in connection with the purchase of certain summer stock will revert approximately to the figures fixed in the original order. About a month ago the numbers of coupons for women's sizes and girls' were reduced to 2 and 1, respectively. This arrangement terminates to-day, when the numbers will be as shown below, the figure in brackets indicating the coupons fixed in the original order:—

B 20—Dress or frock, or like garment (unlined, sleeveless)—Women's and maids' sizes 11, girls' sizes 6. (Originally 11 and 6, respectively.)

B 21—Dress or frock, or like garment (unlined, long or short sleeves)—Women's or maids' sizes 13 coupons, girls' 7. (Originally 13 and 7.)

B 22—Dress or frock, or like garment (lined, long or short sleeves)—Women's and maids' sizes, 18 coupons, girls' 10. (Originally 21 and 13.)

B 23—Dress or frock, or like garment (lined, sleeveless)—Women's and maids' sizes 16, girls' 10. (Originally 19 and 11.)

BY AIR TO FOYNES

The Rev. Dominick J. Conway, Knockcroghery, Co. Roscommon, and the Rev. Thomas Hanahoe, Crossmolina, Co. Mayo, returned from Rome yesterday morning. They travelled by seaplane to Foynes. Both clergymen were lately ordained.

Father Conway stated that Mrs. Kiernan (Delia Murphy), wife of the Irish Minister to the Vatican, was the life of the Irish colony, where she arranged concerts and sang at them.

LURE OF THE TOSS "SCHOOLS"

HUNDREDS of hard-earned pounds are won and lost every week in Dublin city and districts on the tossing of two halfpennies.

Repeated police efforts to stamp out the pitch-and-toss evil have failed, and many working men, lured by the chance of doubling or trebling their money, frequently lose the whole of a week's wages.

In the country districts the craze for this form of gambling is even worse than in the city, owing to the lack of other attractions, and during the recent holiday one of the gamblers in a "toss school" at a village in the County Dublin, peopled mainly by agricultural labourers and fishermen, lost as much as £75 at one session. With, apparently, no limit to stakes, the gamble is completely uncontrolled, and where the police are, as in the city, actively alert for the formation of "rings," the gamblers actually post watchers to give the alarm to those engaged in the game.

Along the banks of the canals, in side streets, and on commons on the city outskirts, the rings form on Sunday mornings, and, in the course of the day, arguments and fights sometimes precede the end of the game, in spite of the pugnacious individual with the heavy leather belt, who is expected to keep order.

Residents in areas where the "schools" usually are formed invariably complain to the police, but with little apparent result. A Civic Guard sergeant told an Irish Times reporter that it would require a special flying squad to cope with the situation effectively, and added that the duties of the police now were so numerous that it was quite impossible to keep all-day vigils on the haunts of the toss devotees. Detectives and police, he said, had their hands fully occupied with more serious forms of crime.

A serious aspect of the evil is the growing number of young people who are becoming associated with the gambling.

U.S. FACTORY BURNED

MELLEN (WISCONSIN), Wednesday.—The Penoke Veneer Company's plant—believed to be the largest American factory supplying wood-veneer for aeroplanes—was destroyed by fire to-day.—(Reuter.)

DEMAND FOR FREE INDIA AGAIN

"AN ALLY OF THE UNITED NATIONS"

BOMBAY, Wednesday.—The Congress Working Committee to-day passed a 1,200-word resolution re-stating its demand for the "withdrawal of British power, so as to enable India effectively to become an ally of the United Nations and fight the aggressors."

The resolution says: "A free India will assure the success of freedom and democracy by throwing all her great resources into the struggle for freedom against the aggression of Nazidom, Fascism and Imperialism. This will not only affect materially the fortunes of the war, but will bring all subjected and oppressed humanity to the side of the United Nations.

TO DEFEND INDIA

"On the declaration of India's independence a provisional Government will be formed, and free India will become an ally of the United Nations, sharing with them their trials and tribulations in the joint enterprise of the struggle for freedom. Its primary functions must be to defend India and resist aggression with all the armed as well as the non-violent forces at its command together with its allied Powers.

"The Committee is anxious not to embarrass in any way the defence of China or Russia, whose freedom is precious and must be preserved, or to jeopardise the defensive capacity of the United Nations. The earnest appeal of the Working Committee to Great Britain and the United Nations has, so far, met with no response. Criticism made in many foreign quarters has shown an ignorance of India's and the world's need, and sometimes even hostility to India's freedom, which is significant of the mentality of domination. . . . The All-India Congress Committee would yet again at this last moment, in the interests of world freedom, renew this appeal to Britain and the United Nations.

"The Committee resolves to sanction, for the vindication of its inalienable right to freedom and independence, the starting of a mass struggle on non-violent lines on the widest possible scale. Such a struggle must inevitably be under the leadership of Gandhi, and the Committee requests him to take the lead and guide the nation in the steps to be taken."

MOSLEMS DIVIDED

ALLAHABAD, Wednesday.—Dr. Syed Abdul Latif, one of the formulators of the "Pakistan" scheme, today called on the Moslem League to co-operate with Congress and other parties, to bring about such an immediate revision of the Cripps proposals as would "wean Congress from its present course." The Congress Working Committee's resolution, he said, amounted to no more than a demand for the immediate revision which he urged. Stating that Mr. Jinnah, President of the League, has "sidetracked a settlement at the critical moment," Dr. Latif said his politics would "decidedly lead to civil war."—(Reuter.)

JAPAN AND INDIA

The Press Association states that the International Committee and the Parliamentary India Committee of the Labour Party, at a joint meeting, have agreed not to draw up any statement on India, although they had been given the authority to make one. "If there should be serious developments, such as a renewal of the wholesale arrests in India, then almost certainly the Labour Party in the House of Commons would regard it as a sufficient cause for asking for an emergency meeting of Parliament during the coming recess. One thing of vital importance is that nothing should be done to encourage a closer approach between Japan and India."

A WORLD DISASTER

"I would rather have my arms cut off than do anything which would harm China," Pandit Nehru told a mass meeting yesterday. "I am prepared to lay down my life for Chinese freedom, just as I am for Indian freedom." He was most anxious to avoid anything that might strengthen the Axis' hands, because he was convinced that an Axis' victory would prove a disaster to the whole world. The new move was not for the realisation of national freedom alone, but for the very survival of India and the strengthening of the anti-Axis front.—(Reuter.)

MILLERS' FEARS

SUPPLY AND PRICE OF OATS

Millers fear that, in the absence of direct control of sales, they will be unable to get oats.

Unlike wheat and barley, where the market is very limited, oats is in general demand by millers, farmers, feeders stable-owners and others, and producers of the crop can hold out for a price far in excess of the fixed maximum of 25s. 8d. a barrel.

It is suggested that the Ministry should take some measures to see that the millers get an adequate supply of oats at the controlled price.

BRITISH SOLDIER KILLED

It was alleged at an inquest in the town of Antrim on Monday evening, at which the jury returned a verdict that Private Owen McLoughlin (24), single, of the British Pioneer Corps, stated to belong to Motherwell, died from wounds feloniously inflicted by a person unknown, that he was stabbed in a fight between soldiers after a dance in Randalstown.

SOVIET ARMY STILL FALLING BACK

PANZERS NEARING MAIKOP OILFIELDS

ADVANCE German units are within 13 miles of the big oil refinery centre of Armavir, less than 60 miles north-east of the valuable Maikop wells, which, Vichy says, the Russians are destroying.

Moscow's admission that the Soviet forces near Belaya Glina have been compelled to give further ground in face of the enemy drive across the Stalingrad-Krasnodar rail line, and Bedlin's assertion that the Kuban River has been reached over a breadth of 60 miles suggest the imminence of a major battle along the river defence line.

German units have stormed their way into the rail town of Kropotkin, 30 miles below Tikhoretsk, and to the upper reaches of the Kuban River, west of Voroshilovsk.

In the North-western Caucasus German troops are said to be nearing the railway from Tikhoretsk to the Azov port of Yeisk.

Marshal Timoshenko's position has worsened on the Lower Don as well as in the Kuban region, and at Tsymlyanskaya a Soviet withdrawal was necessitated.—(Reuter.)

DECISIVE BATTLE NEAR

MOSCOW, Wednesday.—Reuter's Correspondent here states:—"The position of the Red Army has worsened in the past thirty-eight hours on all fronts in the South except in the Don elbow, though here also the Germans have brought up reserves and are pressing hard. During the night Soviet troops withdrew in one sector of the Tsimlyanskaya region, on the south bank of the Don. One of the main battlefields has shifted south-west of Salsk to the region of Boelaya Glina (Bieloglinsk).

"Coastal battles are raging along the shores of the Black Sea and Sea of Azov, where the Germans are trying to attack Soviet positions. Soviet coastal artillery and marines from the Crimea are maintaining their grip on this strip. Red Fleet, organ of the Soviet Navy, states that a German transport sunk by Russian submarines was 'filled to the brim with Fascist troops and escorted by two gunboats.'

Units of the Russian Sea of Azov flotillas are attacking German boats attempting to land troops from the sea in the Russian rear."

According to the Soviet News Agency, the situation on the Southern front remains "tense." "Violent fighting is raging day and night without a break. Realising the gravity of the danger confronting the Soviet south, soldiers and commanders stubbornly contest every inch of ground. One unit of Soviet Guardsmen checked fierce enemy attacks from dozens of heavy and medium tanks supporting automatic riflemen for thirty hours. The Germans brought up artillery and tried to attack the Soviet left flank, but this manœuvre was discovered, and a large number of automatic riflemen was annihilated. Later a third attack was also repulsed."

70 SHIPS TRAPPED

Finnish Radio, quoting Berlin reports, to-day claimed that a Soviet flotilla of about 70 coastal vessels—including gunboats and M.T.B.s—was now isolated in the Sea of Azov. German ships were stated to have arrived in these waters, and the "whole of the Sea of Azov is now under German control," the report added.

German Radio claimed that 34 Soviet aircraft were shot down in the southern sector yesterday. The announcer claimed that the railway line from Armavir to Georgievsk was bombed and machine-gunned, and several transport trains damaged.

Soviet parachute troops have killed more than 600 Germans in a battle for an important river crossing behind the German lines, Moscow Wireless stated to-day. Another paratroop detachment has taken part in 35 attacks on German garrisons in occupied territory, killing hundreds of the enemy.—(Reuter.)

The Times Stockholm Correspondent (quoted by the P.A.) says: "The question still is: Where are Marshal Timoshenko's main Caucasian forces? He had upwards of half-a-million heavily equipped troops in the Donetz basin and the Rostov area, and the Germans reported that he managed to get the greater part across the Don, but there are no signs yet of their presence in the approaches to the western, or indeed the eastern, Caucasian foothills, and there is nothing to indicate whether a firm stand is to be expected along the River Kuban."

AID FROM U.S.

MOSCOW, Wednesday.—Bringing a personal message to M. Stalin from President Roosevelt, Major-General Follett Bradley arrived here to-day. He stated that he had been sent by the President, with M. Stalin's approval, to facilitate and increase American aid to the Soviet Union. General Bradley added that aid was flowing from America to the Union, but the question of getting convoys through was becoming increasingly difficult.—(Reuter.)

AIR BRIDGEHEADS

MOSCOW, Wednesday.—On many sectors of the whole Southern battle theatre an increase in the activities of parachute troops has recently been noted. They land in groups of 100 to 150, sometimes with light tanks, mortars and machine-guns to support their automatic rifles and take up positions near railway stations, villages or highways. Though as yet their activities have been mainly confined to regions immediately behind the lines, the Russian military Press to-day envisages the possibility of large-scale attempts to create what might be called "air bridgeheads" at a greater distance from the front and it calls for the greatest vigilance on the part of mobile defence groups, patrols and local inhabitants.

SOVIET COMMUNIQUE

MOSCOW, Wednesday. — To-night's Soviet communiqué states:—"During August 5 our troops fought fierce engagements in the areas of Kletskaya, Kotelnikovo, south of Boelaya Glina and south of Kushchevskaya.

"Fierce fighting took place in the area of Kotelnikovo (95 miles south-west of Stalingrad). The enemy is repeatedly attacking our positions. At the cost of heavy losses the enemy succeeded in gaining some ground. Near an inhabited locality stubborn fighting ensued. The locality changed hands several times. According to incomplete data, 12 enemy tanks and 28 lorries were destroyed in this sector, and over 400 Germans were killed.

"In the Kletskaya area the German infantry repeatedly attacked our positions. Our troops withstood the German blows and repelled the attacks. In this fighting the enemy lost about 1,200 officers and men killed. To the south of Kletskaya a tank battle took place, in the course of which 13 German tanks were destroyed.

"South of Boelaya Glina our troops fought fierce defensive battles with enemy tanks and motorised infantry. In one sector, after a fierce battle, our troops withdrew to new positions. In another sector a large group of German automatic riflemen broke through the rear of our lines. They were surrounded and completely annihilated.

CANDIDATES HECKLED

DUBLIN MEETING SCENES

Rowdy scenes marked the opening meeting of the campaign of the Fianna Fail municipal candidates for North-West Dublin (No. 3 Area) at Cathal Brugha street, Dublin, last night. Despite amplification, the words of the speakers were drowned by the uproar. Scuffles, shouts and the flinging of handbills calling for support for the Labour Party were frequent.

Mr. John J. Egan, one of the candidates, said that he took his stand in this election in the interests of the poor. Evidence of the interest of Fianna Fail in improving the conditions of the poorer class citizen would be found in their wonderful housing programme, which would be continued until every slum was removed. Did the interrupters, he asked, not want slums removed or better conditions for the poor?

Mrs. Kathleen Nix, an outgoing candidate, said that the men and women who were booing that night booed the man and women of 1916.

Mr. C. Breathnach, T.D., retiring Alderman, regretted having to come before a Dublin audience who had neither the decency nor the good manners to refrain from interrupting a lady with Mrs. Nix's service to the city and country. "I don't intend to speak one word of politics," he said. "You may howl away; you will not worry me."

UPROAR

Continuing above the uproar which surrounded the meeting—alongside of which, at this stage, a rival meeting on behalf of the Coras na Poblachta had begun—Alderman Breathnach said that the attitude shown by certain people then present was not very helpful towards maintaining the harmony which the majority of those in the country desired.

Mr. Frank Sherwin, another candidate, said that if the people whom the interrupters supported were elected, they would have a Government just as disorderly as the crowd at the meeting.

Mr. E. Cooney, T.D., another outgoing candidate, having challenged the crowd to appoint a speaker, on condition that the platform speakers were given a similar privilege, was answered by one man, who came forward, but changed his mind before reaching the platform.

There was not another city in Europe, continued Mr. Cooney, where there could be such a gathering. "If this is the idea of democracy of the organised opposition, I make them a present of it," he added.

Mr. Frank O'Donnell, Area Director of Elections, presided.

THE NEW AIR SERVICE

CORK GETTING BUSY

The suggestion that the new Dublin-Limerick air service would be extended to Cork, if proper landing facilities were provided, has aroused great interest in Cork, where business people are particularly concerned because of the time now required for visits to Dublin. It is thought that public bodies should investigate the possibilities of having a landing-field.

Prominent businessmen have unhesitatingly expressed the view that an extension of the service to Cork would meet with immediate support. One well-known public man said yesterday that Cork would have to fit in with increased air traffic which the post-war period would bring, and he added that efforts were being made to acquire a site near the city.

EIRE CONSULAR SERVICE

NEW APPOINTMENTS

Recent changes in the Eire Consular Service include the appointment of Mr. Garth Healy, Consul in the Consulate-General at New York, to be Consul in Chicago, to replace the late Mr. Daniel McGrath. Mr. T. Horan, of the Department of External Affairs, Dublin, succeeds Mr. Healy in New York. Mr. B. O'Riordan, Consul at Boston, has been promoted to a post in the Department of External Affairs in Dublin. Mr. J. D. Brennan, Vice-Consul in New York, has been appointed Consul at Boston.

CIVIC GUARDS AND "POISON-PEN" LETTERS

CIVIC GUARDS in Dublin and other cities are worried about the possible consequences of "poison-pen" letters written to the police authorities by, most frequently, people who anonymously complain that members of the Force are not doing their duty properly. The Representative Body, which looks after the interests of the police, is urging the Department of Justice to alter what is described as a most unfair system of "confidential reports."

"This system, which . . . is to some extent a legacy from the R.I.C. administrative system, is, we believe, without parallel in any modern police force. Indeed, the injustice of the system is so apparent that one must wonder that it has not been amended long ago," declares the Garda Review editorial article, which condemns outright what individual Gardai, who have the courage to discuss the matter in face of the distrust and suspicion that has arisen in the force as a result of "confidential reports," describe as "Gestapoism, pure and simple."

THE PROCEDURE

At present, if a complaint, anonymous or otherwise, is received by the Gardai authorities, apparently the matter is investigated and the policeman concerned then is informed that he has been accused of neglect of duty on a specified date, and is asked for an explanation. He is neither informed of the nature of the charge made against him, nor is he given the name of his accuser—if that person gives a name at all. While the Representative Body continues—in spite of repeated refusals by the authorities to change the system—to call for a re-casting of this aspect of the disciplinary code, the Garda Review says:—"There should be but one way for the Garda authorities to treat anonymous letters, and that is to burn them. To investigate the allegations they contain without reference to the member against whom they are laid is actual co-operation with the poison-pen writer who sits in the background enjoying the success of malicious activities. No words are strong enough to condemn any system which takes cognisance of such complaints.

"In all justice, the members concerned should be informed of the nature of the complaint against them, and who the complainant is. This is elemental justice. There can be no question of such a complaint being made in confidence. It is inexcusably and fundamentally wrong to build any system of discipline on such a premise. If a member of the Garda oversteps a very rigid rule of practice and procedure in the investigation of crime, the member of the public whose rights have been affected will very promptly take action and obtain redress. We cannot, therefore, see why a member of the Garda should not be entitled to the same measure of justice and freedom."

MINISTER VISITS CAMP

TWO BISHOPS ALSO PRESENT

The Minister for Defence, Mr. Oscar Traynor, visited and inspected the L.D.F. training camp in Clare, yesterday, and two bishops, the Most Rev. Dr. Browne, Bishop of Galway, and the Most Rev. Dr. Dignan, Bishop of Clonfert, were present as guests at a luncheon in the camp, where they were received by Commandant Haugh, O.C.

The Minister inspected the camp, stated to be the largest yet held in the country, and, addressing the men—close on 500 from Ennis district—congratulated them on their presence, which, in itself, betokened the fact that they realised their duty to their country, and were giving it practical effect by having themselves trained to meet any emergency.

He asked them to be careful in respect of the period of waiting that might be in front of them. Because of that period of waiting, many who came in at the beginning had failed to stay the pace, and he appealed now to the men in the L.D.F. to stick it out, however long the period might be. None of them could tell what the future held for the country; the greatest danger might be in the period ahead. He congratulated them on their soldierly appearance and effectiveness, and asked them to continue giving their superior officers the obedience that had brought about that perfection.

Accompanying the Minister was Lieutenant-General McKenna, who also inspected the camp and watched the men at training.

District Leader P. C. McMahon presided at the luncheon given in honour of the Minister, and grace was said by the Bishop of Galway. Amongst the guests present were:—District Justice D. F. Gleeson, Chief Superintendent J. N. Gilroy, the Very Rev. Dr. Sheedy, P.P., Ennistymon; the Very Rev. Canon Davis, Galway.

ANTI-INVASION DRILL

LONDON, Wednesday. — Mock "invasion exercises" by German troops along the Channel coast today before a group of foreign correspondents "were based upon the supposition of an attempted enemy landing by strong and varied forces," says the German News Agency. "Within 80 seconds of the 'alert' heavy artillery had fired their first salvoes and infantry were in operation. Shock troops manned machine-gun positions, while anti-tank guns, flame throwers and new weapons were in readiness for close-range fighting." "Perfect co-operation of various units gave an idea of the well organised defence system, which was set in motion by alarm bells and Verey lights," the Agency added.—(Reuter.)

AUSTRALIA IS CONCERNED

NEED FOR MORE HELP

WHILE some expert commentators overseas seem disposed to regard the recent events in the South-west Pacific, the Japanese landings in Papua and the intensified bombings of Australian ports as mere feints to conceal a possible Japanese assault on Siberia, it is becoming increasingly difficult for Australians to discount them, says a Times message from Canberra.

Here they are regarded as telling their own disturbing story of fresh accretions to Japanese strength in this sector, and as suggesting that Japan may not find it at all impossible to muster sufficient force to join her Axis partners in attacking Russia while she persists in her designs against Australia.

Certainly the vigour with which she is exploiting the advantages she has gained in Papua suggests that she is aiming at something much more menacing than any mere consolidation of defences or forestalling operation.

The threat to Port Moresby is particularly disquieting, and it is hard to resist the temptation to ask how Japan was allowed to steal this march on us in Papua. We must, at almost any cost, hold this, our one island stronghold. Port Moresby is essential to the Allied cause, not only as a shield for the Australian mainland, but also as a base from which the reconquest of the occupied parts of Papua and New Guinea must ultimately be undertaken. The hope here is that the Allied forces will soon receive adequate reinforcement, particularly in ships and aircraft, to allow them to engage in that task, thus ending the present galling inactivity and checking the initiative which the Japanese have held so consistently since the war in the Pacific began.

SYDNEY, Wednesday.—Mr. W. M. Hughes, Australian Premier during the last war, said to-day:—"The situation in the Pacific is full of menace, and worsening daily. Thus far Japan has not failed to reach an objective. If she is to hold what she has won she must attempt a major invasion of Australia. We, in turn, if we are not to live on sufferance, must not only hold Australia, but drive the Japanese from all the islands and countries contiguous to Australia, including Singapore. The occupation of Buna and Gona brings this home with startling emphasis. Buna and Gona must be retaken. That is the first step towards driving the Japanese from New Guinea; that must be taken without delay.—(Reuter.)

AXIS PLAN FOR EUROPE

"It makes it quite clear that Herr Hitler's aim is to include the people of different nationalities against their will within the boundaries of the Greater German Empire and to police this Empire with the notorious S.S. Guard," stated the British Foreign Secretary (Mr. Eden) in the House of Commons yesterday, when referring to a captured document embodying Herr Hitler's views on the future functions of the Waffen S.S.

As the document had received widespread publicity in the Press and by broadcast, and was well known to the other Allied Governments, Mr. Eden said, he did not consider it necessary to communicate it officially to them.

DUBLIN STREET SCHEMES MAY BE HELD UP

SHORTAGE of cement is going to hold up Dublin's improvement and street widening schemes, which have been under way for some time.

An official of the Corporation said yesterday: "We are very slow to demolish any houses in which people are still living, because we have no alternative houses in which to put them. At the same time, we have to acquire property in certain areas to prevent owners doing reconstruction work which would later interfere with the Corporation's own development plans. If houses are in any way habitable at all, we prefer to leave the people in them during the emergency."

SCHEMES IN HAND

Owing to the factors named, only works of great and immediate urgency can be done; but, difficulties notwithstanding, the Corporation has in hands, in varying stages, four big schemes of road widening. There is the by-pass scheme on the Naas road, where from a point road near Lamb's factory the old road is by-passed and a new thoroughfare cuts clean across country to a point at Portlester. The new road, which stretches over one thousand yards, will have an over-all width of one hundred and fifty feet, with dual carriage way fifteen feet wide, and side paths bordered by trees.

A second scheme in hands entails the widening of Sarsfield and Ballyfermot roads, in connection with the new housing scheme in that area. Running from the Stone House, it will link up with a "roundabout" which will form part of the new ring-road on the Southern side of the city, as provided for in the Consultants' Sketch Development report. The Corporation are taking advantage of the Unemployment Relief Acts to carry out this work. A third scheme is nearing completion on the Raheny-Howth road, where the road has been considerably widened and a whole series of points and bands taken off, providing a uniform width of sixty feet. A small section at Clontarf is at present in hands.

NEW DODDER ROAD

The fourth of these widening schemes has been completed on the Malahide road, and, like the others, this is part of the town planning for the Greater Dublin of the future.

Yet another improvement scheme, and one which will open up a new and delightful vista for South side residents, is the proposal to make a new riverside road along the Dodder from Rathfarnham Bridge to Templeogue Bridge. Plans to acquire the necessary property are in hands. The new road will run along the river on the south side from Rathfarnham over a new bridge to be erected, and continue on the north side of the river to Templeogue.

THE WAR IN THE DESERT

AXIS TRANSPORT BOMBED

In the El Alamen battle area light bombers, fighter-bombers and fighters were in action on an increased scale on Tuesday, states the R.A.F. Middle-East News Service. "Attacks were concentrated in the central sector, where large numbers of enemy mechanised units were effectively raided. Direct hits on vehicles caused fires. In combats with enemy aircraft our fighters shot down two 'planes and damaged others. Objectives at Daba were bombed.

"Our aircraft again attacked enemy lighters off Bardia and Sollum, three direct hits with bombs being scored. Heavy bombers of the U.S. Army attacked an escorted enemy convoy in the Eastern Mediterranean, one ship being hit. Tobruk harbour was heavily raided during the night of August 3-4, a direct hit on a ship being obtained. Another vessel was set ablaze. Bomb bursts were also observed among searchlight and gun positions. Other bomber aircraft raided the harbour at Matruh. From all these operation four of our aircraft are missing, but one pilot is safe."—(Reuter.)

KILL ACID AND END CONSTIPATION

When your stomach is full of excess acid it simply cannot digest your food. Every mouthful sours—your whole meal lies in your stomach a fermenting, lumpy mass. You get wind, nausea, heartburn—CONSTIPATION. Constipation imprisons the poisonous and waste matter inside your bowels, soaks your whole system with acid and starts the vicious circle of torture all over again.

But you can break free if, first, you get rid of the acid.

For years doctors have been recommending the safe brand of antacid Milk of Magnesia' as a laxative because it has a double action. The acid in the system is killed. More important still, the bowel is gently relaxed and both cause and effect of constipation move gently out of the system. With the bowels regular and the stomach free from acid, stomach, liver and bowels have a chance to do their job.

So remember that constipation and bad digestion are both due to excess acid. As soon as there is the slightest hint of too much acid, take a spoonful of 'Milk of Magnesia.' Do it for several days and watch how appetite improves, how much more regular you are. And you will wonder how anything so bland and gentle can be so promptly effective.

'Milk of Magnesia' is the trade mark of Phillips' preparation of Magnesia. There is nothing else like it. Try it to-day: you'll be delighted. Obtainable everywhere, 1/3 and 2/6 (treble size), also in tablet form. 'Milk of Magnesia' brand Tablets, 6d., 1/-, 2/- and 3/6. Each tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of the liquid preparation.

DUBLIN'S FISH SUPPLY

HERRINGS FROM THE SOUTH

The Howth and Dublin Bay herring fishing season, lasting only a few weeks, was exceptionally short this year, but large supplies now are coming to Dublin from West Cork and West Kerry.

The supplies in Cork have to be placed in refrigerated rooms if caught on Saturdays, and are not available on the Dublin market until the following Tuesday. The lack of adequate transport, both by rail and road, prevents supplies from reaching Dublin from many small centres in the south and west.

Waterford area, at present, is the best source of supply for Dublin, apart from the herrings from Cork. The Dublin Trawling Company's vessels have been laid up since May, owing to the lack of coal. Their inactivity has helped to reduce the available fish for the Dublin shops. No fish at present is imported from Fleetwood, Aberdeen or Grimsby.

Dublin citizens are perplexed at the fluctuating prices of fish in the shops. This fluctuation, an Irish Times reporter was told, is due to the erratic supplies reaching the market. The wholesale price of some fish varies from day-to-day by as much as 60 or 70 per cent.

GLASS ON THE STREETS

With their tyres wearing down and a poor chance of obtaining replacements, Dublin cyclists are complaining bitterly about the amount of broken glass and other sharp débris strewn on the city streets.

The Cleansing Department of the Corporation, however, states that complaints about broken glass have not been received by it. One official said that there had been complaints recently of the amount of builders' refuse on the roads in the vicinity of recently-constructed air raid shelters, but that this had been cleared away. An occasional broken bottle might be discovered Citizens, he said, should be careful not to break bottles on the roadway. "Our control men," he added, "go round the streets with handcarts, and they would be the first to notice and report any general dispersal of glass on the roadways."

DENTAL FEES DISPUTE

Members of the Council of the Irish Dental Association have had an interview with the National Health Insurance Society, and negotiations are proceeding in regard to the dispute between the two bodies about the fees offered under the new Dental Benefits Scheme.

As matters stand at present, the Society has offered fees on the English scale, and the Association holds that these are inadequate at the present time, in the light of rising costs and scarcity of material. The suggestion which the Association put forward, and which was rejected, was that insured persons should be paid the allowance which the Society was prepared to make, and then pay the difference between it and the dentists' fees.

FOREIGN BODIES IN FOOD

WOMAN'S ALLEGATIONS

Remarkable allegations against merchants were disclosed in a case in the Dublin District Court yesterday, before District Justice McCann, when evidence was given in a prosecution against Mrs. Annie Blackmore, "Wynston," Churchtown, County Dublin, who was accused of having attempted to obtain money by false pretences.

The accusation was that she had attempted to obtain money from a number of people by pretending that her mother had been injured by foreign bodies contained in food, which, she stated, she had bought from them.

Mr. Frank Forshaw, trading as "Allen's," Orwell road, Rathgar, stated that about the end of last November he received a letter from Mrs. Blackmore complaining that a piece of steel in bread bought from him had injured her mouth, and asking him what he was going to do about it. Crumbs of wheatmeal and a small piece of steel, in a small parcel, were enclosed in the letter. He gave it to his insurers, the Yorkshire Insurance Co.

PIECE OF STEEL

Miss Nora Sexton, proprietress of a bakery in Meath street, said that, on June 7 last year, she received a letter from Mrs. Blackmore complaining that her tongue had been cut by a piece of steel in a cake bought in her shop. A tiny piece of steel was in the letter, but it was lost, and Mrs. Blackmore, whom she went to see, showed her another piece. A day or two afterwards she received a letter from Mrs. Blackmore stating that she had been advised to sue her; that, probably, if she sued her she would be awarded heavy damages; but that she did not want to take her to court, as publicity, undoubtedly, would have a bad effect on her sales. She gave the letters to her insurers, the British General Insurance Company.

Surgeon Coolican, Fitzwilliam place, who said that he had examined Mrs. Blackmore at the request of the Yorkshire Insurance Co., stated that he had been unable to discover any sign of injury to the roof of her mouth or to her tongue, and he was of opinion that the injury, if received, was very slight.

Dr. W. H. Lowe, St. Stephen's Green, gave evidence of having examined Mrs. Blackmore at the request of the General Accident, Fire and Life Insurance Corporation, Ltd., in June, 1940, and said that he found no evidence of injury.

Mr. S. F. Dagg, British Insurance Company, gave evidence of the payment of £2 without prejudice to Mrs. Blackmore in respect of her claim against Miss Sexton. Mr. J. Forsythe, managing director, F.M. Ltd., Dame street, stated that in May, 1941, he got a letter from Mrs. Blackmore complaining that her mouth had been injured by a brass pin found in one of the firm's steak and kidney pies; and Mr. Walter C. Nixon, Northern Assurance Company, told the Court that he had informed Mrs. Blackmore that his company declined to pay her anything; that they were aware of a claim by her against another of their clients; and that he had advised her to discontinue making claims of that nature.

GLASS: WORMS

Mr. W. Ferguson, director, Messrs. William Ferguson and Son, Ltd., Rathmines road, said that he got a letter from Mrs. Blackmore in April, 1940, stating that her throat had been injured by glass in a cake bought in the company's premises; and Mr. D. X. Keenan, Irish National Insurance Company, said that the claim against Messrs. Ferguson had been settled for £5.

Miss Helen Devine, employed by Messrs. Robert Roberts and Co., Grafton street, identified letters received by the company from Mrs. Blackmore. One, in August, 1939, complained that a piece of glass had been found in a cake bought in the Grafton street premises; and one in October, 1940, complained of worms being in meal bought in the Suffolk street premises.

Mr. John Wilson, Friends' Provident Century Life Insurance Company, said that, after a long correspondence with Mrs. Blackmore his company paid her £2 out of sympathy in respect of her claim against Miss Devine.

Mr. John McGrath (Messrs. F. Hafner and Sons, Ltd., South Great George's street, Dublin) gave evidence of a complaint by Mrs. Blackmore that her gum had been injured by a piece of steel in a sausage; and Mr. George Woods, General Accident Fire and Life Assurance Corporation, Ltd., said that the claim against Messrs. Hafner had been settled for £3 without admission of liability.

The hearing was adjourned until to-morrow.

DAIRYMAN FINED

George Smyth, sen., Herbuxton House, Jamestown, Finglas, was fined, at Kilmainham, yesterday, 5/- on each of nine summonses—three for failing to make monthly returns, and six for failing to make daily entries of his sales of milk for the Dublin and District Milk Board—with 10/6 costs on each summons.

The defendant said that a mistake had been made. He had been 72 years in business.

District Justice Reddin said Mr. Smyth belonged to the old-fashioned school—he was not a modern, scientific dairyman. "I am afraid that the new scientific way is the right way, and, if the health of the population of the City of Dublin is to be improved, people who run their business like Mr. Smyth must be eliminated—I might say liquidated."

YOUTH FOR TRIAL

District Justice Lennon, in Dublin, yesterday returned for trial on bail David Lloyd-George Mangan (19), who stated that his home was in Upper Pembroke street, Dublin, on a charge of having in his possession property, valued at £19, alleged to have been stolen in Belfast.

PUBLICAN FINED

Patrick Phelan, publican, Blanchardstown, was, at Kilmainham, yesterday, before District Justice Reddin, fined £1, the conviction not to be recorded on the licence, for a breach of the licensing laws.

A SOLDIER'S DRIVING

Private James Palmer was fined, at Kilmainham, yesterday, 1/-, with 10/- expenses, for driving a military vehicle in a careless manner, at the Bout Inn, Ballymun, when it struck the back portion of a stationary horse-drawn cart. The summons against Thomas Sweeney, Bettyville, Ballyboughal, the owner of the cart, for leaving it unattended, was dismissed under the Probation of Offenders' Act.

SIX MONTHS EACH

Richard Hogan (22) and Christopher Courtney (22), no fixed address, described as Art deserters, were sentenced to six months' imprisonment by District Justice Lennon, in Dublin yesterday, for house breaking and larceny.

Your best protection against Burglary, Housebreaking and Larceny is an Insurance Policy with the Norwich Union.—J. G. Aston, Mgr., 63 Dawson street, Dublin.

BICYCLE POSSESSION

John Joseph Farrell (32), electrician, Paul street, Dublin, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment by District Justice Lennon yesterday for illegal possession of a bicycle.

DUBLIN RELIEF

Relieving officers' reports to the Commissioners administering the affairs of the Dublin Board of Assistance showed yesterday that, for the week ended 1st August, 9,787 cases were relieved at a cost of £4,095 16/6, being a decrease of 32 cases for £5 12/6 from the previous week, and an increase of 85 for £29 10/6 over the corresponding week last year. During the week 9,446 food vouchers were issued.

An Old Stick.—When repairing an old sofa which had been sold by auction, Mr. Hugh McCarroll, Harnaglare, found embedded in the upholstery a walking-stick, dated 1679, with the words, "Royal Scots Fusiliers," and a crown engraved on it.

Tralee Horse Fair.—There was a good supply of useful cobs and farm horses at the August Horse Fair in Tralee. Cobs were in good demand at from £15 to £35. Farm horses for harvest work sold at from £30 to £60, one much-fancied animal realising £75.

Vesington Call Gains Third Success

CHIEF honours at the Phœnix Park meeting yesterday afternoon were carried off by Mr. T. Nugent, who trains and owns Bonbon, winner of the Park Selling Plate, and he also trains Mr. J. F. Farrell's Balbriggan, who, carrying top weight of 9st. 8lb., won the sprint handicap. Bonbon was ridden by Mr. B. O'Toole, and Mr. Nugent bought her at the yearling sales for a paltry, 15 guineas. There was some bidding for her subsequent to the race, and she was bought in for 110 guineas.

Mr. F. S. Myerscough won yet another two years old race with Scots Guard, a son of Dastur. Ton of Silver carried the Duke of St. Albans's colours to success in one of the amateur riders' races, and Vesington Call completed a series of three successive wins in the Maynooth Plate. Primrose Path gave Mr. P. J. Lenehan an easy winning ride in the other amateurs' race. A splendid finish for the Mulhuddart Plate resulted in a dead-heat between Coltoi and Marquee.

One of the biggest American lawn tennis tournaments staged in this country will be held at Kenilworth square, Rathmines, next Saturday, starting at 2.30 p.m., in aid of the L.D.F. Comforts Fund. Over twenty courts will be available, and entries are expected to number more than 300. An Army band will provide music through the afternoon, and other amusements, including a raffle for a valuable tennis racket, will provide further interest.

DAM OF THE PHŒNIX

Mr. C. A. Rogers has purchased from Mrs. H. G. Wellesley Fille de Poets, dam of The Phœnix. The mare is believed in foal to His Reverence.

BOMBING OF RUHR

ATTACK IN SNOWSTORM

British bombers returned to the attack on Germany on Tuesday night. An Air Ministry communiqué states:—"Our bombers attacked objectives in the Ruhr. Fighter Command aircraft on patrol over occupied territory attacked railway and other targets. From these operations one aircraft of Bomber Command and one of Fighter Command are missing."

Snow piled up against the windows of the big four-engined bombers, with temperature at 30 degrees below Zero. For hours crews sat at the controls and instruments of their Halifaxes with gloves white and stiff with frost.

R.A.F. fighters were active over the Channel yesterday. Once during the afternoon British day raiders were seen flying back over Deal. Several heavy thuds and rumbles were heard and felt coming from across the water.

RAID ON BRITAIN

The Germans sent about 30 raiders over Britain in the early morning hours yesterday. They scattered out over the south and south-west and a few reached South Wales. Their bombs did only slight damage, said the Air Ministry, and caused a small number of casualties. Six of those bombers were destroyed. Four crashed into the sea, three on fire.

The German communiqué says:—"Light German bombers yesterday attacked targets on the English south coast and scored direct hits on important war objectives in the town of Brighton. In addition, the Luftwaffe bombed port installations on the south-west coast of England."

AT FIRING PRACTICE

OFFICER'S FATAL WOUNDS

That death was due to wounds in the spine, caused by machine-gun bullets during firing practice, was the verdict at the inquest in Belfast yesterday on Lieut.-Colonel M. F. Hammond-Smith, County Commandant, Tyrone Home Guard, who was injured at an instruction course.

The Coroner expressed his opinion that live ammunition was not more effective than blank in producing realistic conditions.

Evidence was given that the colonel and other officers were undergoing "battle inoculation"—firing live ammunition near them. They were drawn up in a rough semi-circle, and bursts of machine-gun fire struck the ground 15 and 25 yards behind them. Three other officers and an N.C.O. were wounded.

Major Holdsworth, who was in charge of the course of instruction, was told by the Coroner not to give evidence.

AXIS SHIPS TORPEDOED

The British Admiralty yesterday stated:—"Two further successes against the enemy's supply routes in the Mediterranean have been scored by one of our submarines, under the command of Commander B. Bryant, D.S.C., R.N. This submarine torpedoed and sank the Italian steamship Eddo (800 tons), and succeeded in rescuing a number of survivors. The ship was fully laden.

"The same submarine later intercepted another enemy supply ship, which attempted to escape. She was, therefore, engaged by gunfire and severely damaged before she beached herself under the protection of Italian coastal batteries on the east coast of Sardinia.

"The submarine was engaged by the batteries, but was not hit, and she suffered no casualties or damage."

AIR ATTACK ON ICELAND

REYKJAVIK, Wednesday.—The Germans have made a second air attack on isolated points in Iceland, machine-gunning an Icelandic lighthouse on a tiny island off the north-west coast, according to a United States military announcement. No casualties or damage resulted from the attack, which was made early yesterday by a single long-range bomber. The lighthouse, operated entirely by neutral Icelanders, is located on Grimsey Island, about half a mile from the north-east coastal town of Holmavik.—(Associated Press.)

SHORT SUMMER RECESS

The British House of Commons yesterday agreed that Parliament should rise for a short summer recess. Sir Stafford Cripps, leader of the House, promised that if there was any special information to be communicated to members or if any unexpected situation arose they would be recalled.

CHUNGKING, Wednesday.—Two Japanese 'planes were shot down in an air battle over Hengyang, when 16 Japanese aircraft raided this American air base in Hunan.—(Reuter.)

Trades Council—Mr. D. Sayers (outgoing).

GALWAY COUNTY

Although it is expected that twenty candidates will contest the Galway Corporation election, only three nominations had been received up to 5 o'clock yesterday evening by the Town Clerk. Of these only one was from a member of the outgoing Council, Mr. W. Faller, jeweller, Taylor's Hill. The others were from new candidates—Messrs. J. Owens, hotel-keeper, and S. Lee, merchant, both of Dominick street. With the exception of Galway City the forthcoming election will be the first to be held in the county for several years. It is expected that not more than six members of the existing Corporation will seek re-election They include Alderman J. F. Costello. There are 12,400 voters on the register, but many of these have emigrated within recent months.

A large number of candidates, new and outgoing, has been nominated for the Galway County Council. Most of the new candidates are members of Clann na Talmhan (Sons of the Soil)

Mayo County Council—The "no contest" pact entered into by the retiring members of the council has not been observed. There are to be contests in each of the six electoral areas, 59 members having been nominated for 31 seats. Twenty-eight of the outgoing members will seek re-election. The Fianna Fail team numbers 25, Fine Gael 19, with 8 Independents, 4 Labour and 3 Farmers.

OTHER COUNCILS

Fifty-one candidates have been nominated for 26 seats in the Roscommon County Council. There are fourteen candidates for seven seats in the Castlerea area, thirteen for six in Boyle, nine for five in Elphin, and fifteen for eight in Roscommon. Fianna Fail, with twenty, has the largest number of candidates. The Farmers' Party comes next with eighteen. There are only three Fine Gael candidates, six Independent candidates and four Independent Farmers' candidates. The last Council comprised 16 Fianna Fail, 14 Fine Gael and one Independent candidate.

Mr. M. H. Grogan, Castlerea, one of twelve members of the old Council, who did not seek re-election, had 43 years' unbroken service.

Donegal County Council — Fifty-six nominations were received by Mr. S. D. McLochlinn, Returning Officer, for 28 seats. For the first time a woman candidate has been nominated. Miss Margaret Beeney, former National Teacher, Glenvar.

Longford County Council — Forty nominations for 30 seats were officially declared in Longford yesterday, but of this number two were later withdrawn. Neither Fianna Fail nor Fine Gael are putting forward candidates officially, but a number of the candidates are known to have leanings towards one or other of these organisations, and are understood to be going forward in their private capacities. Labour is sponsoring two candidates.

Laoighis County Council—Fifty candidates were yesterday nominated for 25 seats—Fianna Fail 17, Fine Gael 12, Labour 11, Irish Monetary Reform Association 4, Irish National Farmers' Party 2, Independents 7.

Monaghan County Council—Forty-three nominations for 20 seats were received yesterday. Both the Farmers' Party and Labour officially nominated candidates. The two political parties are mostly going as Independents, and the Protestant Association nominated two candidates in Monaghan, two in Clones, and one in Castleblayney.

Offaly County Council — Thirty-four nominations were made at Tullamore yesterday for 21 seats.

Limerick County.—There will be 60 candidates for 27 seats. Of these 20 are Fianna Fail nominations, 19 Fine Gael, 12 Labour, 5 Independents, and 4 other candidates.

Tipperary North.—Of the candidates nominated yesterday 8 are Fine Gael, 12 Fianna Fail, 9 Labour, 8 Independents.

Tipperary South.—Sixty-three candidates have been nominated for 26 seats. Party affiliations have not been stated, but it is understood that there are 20 Fianna Fail candidates, several Independents, and 4 representing Muintir na Tire.

Sligo County.—50 candidates have been nominated for 24 seats.

County Kerry.—Of the 26 seats in the four electoral areas of Kerry County Council, 59 candidates were nominated yesterday, of whom 18 were members of the Kerry Farmers' Association.

Cork County Council.—There were 84 candidates for the 46 seats made up as follows:—Cork Area, 7 seats, 17 candidates; Bandon Area, 7 seats, 13 candidates; Kanturk Area, 6 seats, 12 candidates; Mallow Area, 7 seats, 13 candidates; Midleton area, 6 seats, 9 candidates; Skibbereen Area, 7 seats, 13 candidates, and Schull Area, 6 seats, 7 candidates.

TURKEY IS NEUTRAL

LONDON, Wednesday.—M. Sarajoglu, Turkish Premier, said to-day that all efforts would be made to keep Turkey out of the war, but that, if Turkish territory or independence were attacked, she would fight to the last man. He was outlining in Parliament his Government's programme, says an Ankara despatch to Vichy News Agency.

Turkey's foreign policy, he said, could best be described as one of continuity and stability, and Turkey would continue to seek the means of remaining outside the war. "Our Treaty of Alliance with Britain continues to show its results in the interests of both parties. The Anglo-Turkish alliance is the expression of reality itself, and constitutes a fundamental factor of the political system which I have just set forth. Another clear and loyal demonstration of this policy is shown in the German-Turkish pact, which reaffirms the mutual understanding and friendship existing between the two countries. We have contractual or actual relations with States in both the opposing camps. Our attitude will be equally friendly and loyal towards these States."—(Reuter.)

"STRONG MAN" ASPIRANT

A man who claimed that a road accident, while cycling, prevented him becoming a "strong man" in an acrobatic troupe, was awarded £373 19s. 9d. damages and costs at Sussex Assizes Lewes, yesterday, against two motorists. Of this £250 was for pain and suffering.

He was Frederick Patterson, of First avenue, Walton-on-Thames, Surrey, and he told Mr. Justice Humphreys that he had been making £10 a week after becoming a gymnastic instructor and opening a physical culture class.

It was stated that he went to Britain from Northern Ireland in 1936, and his counsel said that Patterson, now a carpenter, was obsessed with the fear that his injury would split open again.

The following are the correct names of candidates nominated for the Local Government Elections by the Dun Laoghaire Borough Ratepayers' Protection and Improvements Association, which appeared incorrectly in yesterday's issue:—Messrs. B. R. Coldwell, F. Gordon, E. Gillan, B. McKinley, and T. D. Doyle.

LOUTH BOARD OF HEALTH AND PUBLIC ASSISTANCE.

APPOINTMENT OF MEDICAL OFFICER.

ST. PETER'S NO. 1 DISPENSARY DISTRICT, DROGHEDA.

The Louth Board of Health and Public Assistance invite applications from pensionable or pensioned Medical Officers of Local Authorities, the duties of whose office relate, or have related, to the duties of a Dispensary Medical Officer, for appointment to the above position under Section 5 (1) of the Local Authorities (Officers and Employees) Act, 1926.

The salary attached to the office is £250 a year, by annual increments of £10 a year to £350 a year, with the usual Registration and Vaccination Fees, together with £60 a year as Medical Officer of Health, £20 of which is payable by the Board and the balance by the Corporation of Drogheda.

The salary as Medical Officer of Health is approved on condition that the person appointed shall discharge, without additional remuneration, the following duties in addition to the ordinary work of that office, viz.:—

(a) Immunisation duties (other than vaccination against smallpox).
(b) Domiciliary treatment of cases of tuberculosis assigned to him by the County Medical Officer of Health.
(c) Duties which may be necessary in connection with the making of housing surveys under the Labourers Acts and Orders.
(d) Treatment of minor ailments in children referred to him under an approved School Medical Service Scheme by the County Medical Officer of Health.

In calculating the salary to be paid to the person appointed due allowance will be made for his or her previous period of service.

The person appointed must be prepared to reside in a central part of the district.

Applicants must state in their applications the following:—Date of Birth; Qualifications, with dates, length of service, and, in the case of a pensioned Officer, nature of office previously held, length of service, amount of allowance, and name of Local Authority from whom received.

Applications to reach the undersigned not later than 12 noon on Saturday, 22nd August, 1942.

By Order.
P. J. KEARNEY, Secretary.
County Offices,
Crowe Street, Dundalk.
Date: 31st July, 1942.

COUNTY BOROUGH OF DUBLIN.

THE HOUSING (MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS) ACT, 1931.

Notice is hereby given that THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE LORD MAYOR, ALDERMEN AND BURGESSES OF DUBLIN, in pursuance of Section 18 of the Housing (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act, 1931, have made on the 4th day of August, 1942, an Order, which will be submitted to the Minister for Local Government and Public Health for his approval, ordering that the public right of way described in the Schedule hereto shall be extinguished as from the date of the approval of the said Order by the said Minister.

A copy of the said Order and of the map referred to therein has been deposited at the office of the City Manager and Town Clerk, and may be inspected thereat at all reasonable hours.

Any objection to the said Order should be made in writing, addressed to the Minister for Local Government and Public Health, Custom House, Dublin, before the 25th day of September, 1942.

The Act provides that if any objection to the Order is made to the Minister before the expiration of six weeks from the publication thereof, the Minister shall not approve the Order until he has caused a public local inquiry to be held into the matter.

SCHEDULE.

The public right of way over the laneways known as Leinster Row, Hackett's Court and Pearon's Court, in the Parish of St. Peter and City of Dublin, as shown coloured brown on the map referred to in the foregoing Order.

Dated this 5th day of August, 1942.

P. J. HERNON,
City Manager and Town Clerk,
Law Agent, City Hall, Dublin.

Reconstruction

Few individuals, and even fewer communities, seem to be capable of visualising conditions that have not yet arisen. The average citizen is reluctant to add next year's threatened troubles to those of the passing hour, and prefers to nurse the hope that a solution will be available for problems when they become acute. Much may be said for that attitude of mind. Even in normal times it requires rare gifts of imagination, and no small mental effort, to form a reasonably intelligent estimate of a coming year's demands. That lack of foresight is characteristic in varying degree of all communities, but seems to be especially prevalent among the people of this country, in which it has been said that "the inevitable never happens." Yet there are very real and imminent dangers in that happy-go-lucky attitude of mind. Never has there been greater need than to-day for the exercise of whatever powers of intelligent anticipation we may possess; and never have there been so many highly speculative, elusive and formidable factors to be taken into account. Some of these factors are international, and, therefore, beyond this country's power to control. Others are of the domestic order, but the problems to which they give rise cannot be solved in isolation from international events. Not merely the duration of the war, but its possible reactions on the new social and economic order which national leaders so confidently anticipate, are elements of such magnitude and uncertainty as to suggest that the foundations of any domestic policy or plan for national development have not yet begun to appear. The only thing that matters, some people say, is to keep our frail bark afloat, from day to day and from week to week, on the waters of a storm-tossed economic sea. It is easy to appreciate that attitude of mind; yet we take a totally different view of what can, and ought to, be done at the present juncture. We dismiss at once any suggestion of what has been described as "blue print" planning. While the architect and the engineer may be usefully busy with plans for new streets and buildings, or for new sewers and electricity services, we think rather of the need to lay the foundations, and to outline the flexible framework, of a national plan which will cover every aspect of economic organisation and community life.

Is it too soon to make the effort to contemplate such foundations, and to outline some such framework? Are there not good and urgent reasons to regard the effort as a necessary precaution against an unplanned, but abiding, economic and social framework? That danger exists and is very real. In a recent broadcast the Vice-President of the United States issued a warning against the chance that a new body of vested interests might endeavour to project emergency industries into peace conditions. They would argue, for instance, that the production of synthetic rubber ought to be continued, regardless of its comparative cost, as a permanent safeguard against further war emergencies. To reinforce such specious arguments, vested interests would seek the support of "isolationist" leaders, and "big business" would masquerade in political garments. When we suggest that business interests in this country, acting on similar principles, are not unlikely to exercise an undue influence in the political field, we merely argue from the fact that human nature is pretty well the same on both sides of the Atlantic. Not only have many privately controlled industries been established here to meet emergency conditions, but new bodies of vested interests have grown up under the ægis of Government departments and of many semi-official organisations. State-controlled production of peat and of mineral ores may be necessary to meet present emergencies. State-appointed boards to regulate the prices of one commodity, or the equitable distribution of another, may be justified as emergency expedients. Such institutions never were contemplated against the background of peace conditions. Yet who can doubt that institutions which were designed for war conditions will struggle to project their activities and influence into the economic structure of peace? In a sentence, is it not abundantly evident that the machinery of social and economic life is being "reconstructed" without reference to any adequately considered or coherent plan, or any balanced conception of national well-being? Ministers, of course, may say that all temporary measures are conceived in conformity with some considered plan for future national development. They may claim that the Cabinet and the Legislature are the only parties concerned with national plans and policies. The alternative may be a resort to the ballot-box. If they are called on to deliver judgment, electors cannot begin too soon to take a lively interest in problems of reconstruction.

"Jack the Rag"

According to information given by a questioner in the British House of Commons, the rationing of clothing has developed a new species of the old rag-and-bone man. Persons with handcarts, it is alleged, stand outside certain schools, and persuade the children to bring articles of clothing from their homes in return for fountain pens, flash-lamps, scents and similar goods. The day of "No jars—no jam" has presumably put a stop to the trade of those merchants who used to appear in the suburban roads and present children with some insignificant bribe—often a large, coloured balloon—in return for old jam-jars, of which most houses had a considerable surplus. Clothing, however, is more profitable merchandise, and, if articles can be secured in return for such trifling payment as goldfish, the dealer stands to make a handsome profit. The objection, of course, is not to the trade itself. Second-hand clothes are coupon-free, and persons are fully entitled to dispose of them in what way they please. In most cases at the present time, however, they do not wish to dispose of them at all; and it is suggested that, if the dealers were allowed to continue their business, children might be induced to bring articles from their homes without the knowledge and consent of their parents. The law is inclined, as a rule, to take a sensible view of children's conduct, and to understand that they cannot be held under the same responsibility for foolhardy actions as adults are. It would seem, therefore, that every effort would be made to restrict the new trade in old clothes through the agency of existing law. A member suggested that it might, perhaps, constitute an offence under the provision of the Public Health Act, 1936, by which no person collecting old clothes or similar goods may deliver, gratuitously or otherwise, any article of food or drink to any person, or any article whatsoever to any person under fourteen years of age. A nice point appears in the case of the "over-fourteens." It is clear enough that flash-lamps and fountain-pens are not articles of food or drink. What is the position of a goldfish? It is not, admittedly, a part of the normal diet of normal people; but these are not normal times. A goldfish which might have been accepted as a decoration a year or two ago must even now be cherished as a possible addition to the emergency menu, and may make its appearance any day as the trimming of a salad. The learned judge who has to deal with the first case will be confronted with the difficulty of deciding whether he is to accept the customary function of the goldfish as the sole function, or to produce a precedent reminiscent of the dictum in Punch: "Cats is 'dogs' and rabbits is 'dogs' and so's parrots, but this 'ere tortis is an insect, and there aint no charge for it."

HIS FATHER'S SON

The Taylor Art Scholarship of fifty guineas has been won by James Power, son of the distinguished sculptor, with a plaster model, "St. Brigid and Calf." The piece represents the Saint standing, with a young calf pressing closely behind her knees.

The subject set for the class was "Figure for Garden," and in the group of sculpture work on view there is none which has not merit. There is a striking effort by a former Caledonian Medal winner in the form of a child under a mass of clay—a seedling pushing its way upwards.

The exhibits in the Taylor Art classes, which will be open to the public in the Members' Hall of the Royal Dublin Society, Ballsbridge, are not particularly inspiring.

The Children's Classes—ranging from youngsters of ten and under, by two-yearly stages, to eighteen—afford much of interest. In the younger classes the children show extraordinary freshness of idea, and though their gift of line is in the main imperfect, they almost all show a wonderful sense of colour. In fact, in this regard they are much better than are the older students, whose treatment of colour very often has let them down in handling quite good subjects.

There is some good work in the classes for lettering and design, especially attractive being the winning entry in Class 22—a set of three designs for coloured embroidery.

In all there were 458 entries for the competitions.

At the opposite end of the Members' Hall is an exhibition of models and drawings, arranged by the Royal Institute of Architects of Ireland and the Architects' Association, showing some of the work that is being done or planned, especially in regard to hospital building of the future.

TRYING SNUFF

Cigarette-starved Irishmen—and women—are now experimenting with snuff, but few are acquiring the habit, an Irish Times reporter learned yesterday. Supplies, a wholesaler told him, are more than adequate, but there has been no appreciable increase in the demand.

Snuff finds favour only in certain districts, usually where elderly people live. Around the South Dublin Union, for instance, tobacconists do a fairly brisk business with old, established customers. Ocasionally, newcomers buy some in desperation, but seldom come back for more.

Ireland is not really a snuff-consuming nation, our reporter was told. Strangely enough, there is a greater proportion of addicts among the ultra-modern population of the United States than there is in any other country. In America, however, they do not "snuff" it, but chew it!

The three types of snuff—brown, white and black—are at present selling at about 1/6½ an ounce. Brown and white are the more popular types, black being used principally for mixing.

GASTRO-ENTERITIS

There has been no marked recurrence this year of the epidemic of gastro-enteritis which was a mid-summer feature in Dublin last year.

This fact has, to some degree, hampered the work of the Advisory Committee set up by the Minister for Local Government and Public Health to seek a more precise knowledge of the etiology and prevention of the disease, which usually affects bottle-fed infants. The Committee, however, is continuing its researches. It is composed of Dr. C. J. McSweeney, Superintendent, Cork Street Fever Hospital; Dr. W. P. O'Callaghan, bacteriologist, Cork Street; Dr. R. A. Q. O'Meara, Dr. M. J. Russell, M.O.H.; Prof. J. McGrath, M.D., M.Sc.; Dr. F. N. Elcock, Dr. Stritch, city bacteriologist; Prof. J. M. O'Connor and Prof. W. E. Jessop.

CRUISKEEN LAWN

By Myles Na gCopaleen.

WORKING down from cúigeachas through paróisteachas you should get to fearachas as the nadir of personal eccentricity and narrow-mindedness, in effect to the 'modern person whose 'language' is so 'personal' that it is impenetrable, the painter whose 'symbols' are 'private,' the pianist whose manipulation of the 'acoustical event' (in that purely atonal way that is the epiphenomenon of the vanished bar-line) is a secret. Ektu'lly, fearachas means husbandry or thrift, and, by gob, that certainly is the nadir of personal eccentricity, the mark of the man that is dairíribh about himself. Number One comes first.

ANGLO-AMERICAN CO-OPERATION

"WORLD'S BEST HOPE"

The British Government considers that the establishment of an Inter-Allied Commission to submit proposals concerning post-war reconstruction would be "altogether premature," Viscount Simon (Lord Chancellor) told the House of Lords yesterday.

"Anglo-American co-operation now and hereafter," he said, "constitutes the best hope for the world." The aim was not to impose international authority upon the world after the war. They should aim rather at getting agreement between as many sovereign communities as possible, so that as a result of consent, and not externally applied force, this international authority would be able to speak in the name of all decent people. Denying that the Atlantic Charter was "vague and nebulous," he said that it was a pledge of co-operation, not only in framing plans for peace, but in carrying them out. "If that is achieved there is no place in history too high to put this document."

Lord Davies had urged the establishment of an Inter-Allied Commission before the conclusion of hostilities, "to consider the implications of the Atlantic Charter and the Anglo-Soviet treaty, and to submit proposals for the closest collaboration of the United Nations in post-war reconstruction through an international authority."

YOUTH TRAINING

The Youth Training Centres established by the Department of Education will be opened officially at the end of this month. By that time people who have been training as leaders will have undergone their examination. There are about fifty of them, comprising students, civil servants, post office workers and members of the professions, as well as six paid instructors. The headquarters of Comhairle le Leas Oige, the Council in charge of the organisation, is at 14 Upper Mount street, and by October it is probable that another centre will have been opened on the North side of the city. The premises in Mount street are being altered, and will be ready for the opening ceremony.

At present the organisation concerns itself with boys of over fourteen years, but in time it is expected to undertake the training of girls.

As well as their physical training, crafts, etc., the boys' health will be watched, and their parents' reactions to the training will be noted by the leaders, who will maintain a liaison between the centres and the homes. An employment bureau also will be set up to obtain work for the boys.

RADIO VARIETY

SOME ARTISTIC NEEDS

There are plenty of variety artists suitable for broadcasting in Ireland if (1) their material was properly presented, (2) a variety orchestra was provided to accompany them, (3) they were paid sufficient fees.

These are the views of Mr. Lionel Cranfield, Secretary of W.A.A.M.A., who yesterday discussed with an Irish Times reporter a statement in Radio Eireann's report for 1941, to the effect that most of the variety turns "auditioned" had to be rejected, as in many cases they amounted to nothing more than imitations of American artists.

Radio Eireann, he said, has never catered for the man-in-the-street where variety is concerned. To the average man the ideal variety programme would consist of a number of amusing—even broad-cross—talks, sketches, interspersed with light musical items. Such programmes are always popular, as witnessed by the number of households all over Ireland who switch over to the B.B.C. as soon as a variety programme comes on the air.

There is no reason, continued Mr. Cranfield, why Radio Eireann should not be able to present such a series of variety programmes. The chief difficulty lies not in getting artists to put the material across, but in getting suitable material for the artists to put across. Another requirement is a suitable variety orchestra to accompany programmes; for one piano—or even two pianos—cannot be as effective as a full orchestra, such as the B.B.C. Variety Orchestra. "If only the radio people would come down off their perches," he concluded, "and get professional writers to write their stuff for them, and if they would give adequate fees and provide the proper ingredients—viz., a full variety orchestra—there is no doubt that Irish variety programmes would become every bit as popular as the British programmes."

DEPUTY FIRST SEA LORD

Among British naval appointments announced yesterday is that of Admiral Sir Charles E. Kennedy-Purvis to be a Lord Commissioner of the Admiralty and Deputy First Sea Lord.

Mr. A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, stated in the Commons that the appointment had been made to enable the First Sea Lord to devote the maximum time to planning and operational duties. The Deputy First Sea Lord would take over the administrative duties and superintend the work of the naval staff relating to the provision of the necessary naval forces of all types, including the Fleet Air Arm, and other requirements, to meet present and future needs for the conduct of the war. He would also deal with all large questions in connection with the development of the fighting efficiency of the Fleet as regards training and material.

Sir Charles Kennedy-Purvis, who has been in the Navy for more than 40 years, was at one time one of the youngest flag officers. He was promoted Admiral last February, and formerly was Commander-in-Chief, America and West Indies. He is 58. His new appointment dates from July 29.

Vice-Admiral Sir Alban T. B. Curteis has been selected for an appointment abroad.

Rear-Admiral A. J. Power has been appointed commander of a cruiser squadron, and Rear-Admiral A. F. E. Pridham has taken up a shore appointment abroad.

WEDDINGS

Vickers—White. — The wedding took place at the Star of the Sea Church, Dublin, yesterday, of Mr. William Joseph Vickers, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Vickers, Glasgow, and Miss Molly White, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.
